Name	Anne-Marie Mitchell
Cornell Affiliation	MPS' 16, MBA '18
Job Title	Senior Manager, North America Operations Sustainability
Company	Amazon
	Anne-Marie has spent nearly eight years at Amazon, including more than five years leading sustainability initiatives across North America Operations. She began her Amazon career as a Pathways Operations Manager after earning two master’s degrees from Cornell University--an MPS in International Agriculture and Rural Development (CALS) and an MBA from the Johnson Graduate School of Management--and serving as a Peace Corps Volunteer in West Africa. Over the course of her tenure, Anne-Marie has held leadership roles across AR Sortable Fulfillment, Last Mile Delivery, and Operations Sustainability, supporting decarbonization efforts in buildings, transportation, and organizational culture. She currently serves as a Senior Manager for Quick Commerce Construction across North America. A tenured Bar Raiser, she has also contributed to more than 260 interviews, helping uphold Amazon’s hiring bar and leadership principles. Outside of Amazon, Anne-Marie is a licensed real estate professional supporting buyers and sellers across Colorado. She and her husband Trevor (also a Johnson alum) are raising their two children, Jackson (4) and Sierra (1)--three, if you include their golden retriever, Kona. As a family, they embrace Colorado’s lifestyle, spending time hiking, skiing, attending live music festivals, and exploring the outdoors.
